

Margulies Perruzzi Architects Welcomes New Design Staff

BOSTON, Mass. – June 17, 2010 – Margulies Perruzzi Architects, one of Boston’s most innovative architectural and interior design firms, announced today the addition of two new design staff. Tim Bailey, AIA, LEED AP BD+C, joins the firm as an architect, and Rui Ribeiro joins as an architectural designer.

“We are pleased to welcome Tim and Rui to our design staff,” said Marc Margulies, AIA, LEED AP, principal of Margulies Perruzzi Architects. “Tim and Rui add their respective talents and strengths to our dedicated design team, and they understand the importance of creating design that supports our clients’ business objectives.”

Tim Bailey, AIA, LEED AP BD+C, Architect

Having recently rejoined Margulies Perruzzi Architects as an architect, Tim Bailey works on a variety of projects, contributing his many strengths in design. His experience, attention to detail, and deliberate approach to design have made him a sought-after member of the firm’s project teams. Tim is currently working on the interior design of the new corporate headquarters for Forrester Research, as well as technological and cosmetic upgrades to multiple conference and videoconference rooms for Foley Hoag’s Boston office. His previous work for MPA includes projects for Covidien, OneBeacon Insurance, The Gillette Companies, and Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts. Tim holds a Bachelor of Architecture from Roger Williams University. He is a member of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) and U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC).

Rui Ribeiro, Architectural Designer

Rui Ribeiro joins Margulies Perruzzi Architects as an architectural designer. His project responsibilities include design development and construction documentation using Autodesk Revit (BIM). Rui is currently job captain for a Zurich Bank of America project that involves two floors at 100 High Street. Rui received his Bachelor of Architecture (Cum Laude) from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.
