

Margulies & Associates Fashions New Headquarters for Maric

BOSTON, Mass. – April 24, 2006 – Margulies & Associates, one of Boston’s most innovative architectural and interior design firms, announced the completion of interior renovations of a new 5,000 square foot corporate headquarters for Maric, Inc. in Needham, Massachusetts.

Moving from Boston’s Back Bay to the Boston suburbs, Maric seized the opportunity to create a whole new look for its corporate offices. Its previous office space in the Vendome on Commonwealth Avenue in Boston was very traditional – lots of carved wood. The new space is as modern as the old space was traditional, featuring a wood and stone lobby. Glass was used as a design element throughout the entire space.

“We worked with Margulies & Associates on numerous other projects in the Greater Boston area as well as this building before we even decided to move our offices here from the Back Bay. We’ve had a very successful working relationship and it just made sense to work together again on our new corporate headquarters,” said Mark Rubin, president of Maric, Inc. “We had a good idea of what we wanted but the design team showed us some concepts we hadn’t even considered. Being in the real estate business, our offices are our showrooms. We’re very happy with our new look and have received tons of compliments.”

A family-owned firm involved in New England real estate for more than 30 years, Maric has developed more than two million square feet of office, industrial, retail and medical space.

“It was a real pleasure to work with a client who was so interested in the interior design of his new office. A part of every design decision – from finding fabrics to furniture shopping, Mark could often be seen entering our project team meetings with a satchel full of fabrics and furniture brochures,” said Marc Margulies, AIA, principal of Margulies & Associates.

ExecuSpace Construction Corporation of Woburn, Massachusetts handled the build-out of Maric's office.
